

Lyons Center School

Books Arranged by Guided Reading Level including Series Books

May 14, 2013

These books are available at many public libraries as well as at Scholastic.com and many bookstores.

If you do not know your child's guided reading level, scan the titles until you find books that your child can read independently. Then you can try other books around the same level.

Below is a chart to help assist in where your child should be at during each school year.
As you can see the months are listed at the bottom of the chart for your convenience.

- The chart above shows expected grade level performance for 10 months of the school year. School districts may want to adjust the expectations to align with their school requirements and professional teacher judgment.
- Each level indicates the instructional level; that is, the level that he or she can read with instructional support (e.g., text introduction). At levels A–K, the instructional level is the highest level a student can read with 90–94% accuracy and excellent or satisfactory comprehension, or 95–100% accuracy with limited comprehension. At levels L–Z, the instructional level is the highest level a student can read with 95–97% accuracy and excellent or satisfactory comprehension, or 98–100% accuracy with limited comprehension.
- The student's independent reading level will be one or two levels lower. The independent level is one at which the student can read without teacher support.
- If the student's instructional level matches the indicated level at the particular point in time, the student can be considered to be reading on grade level. If the student's level is higher, then the student can be considered to be reading above grade level. In this case, the student may be reading independently at the level.
- If a student's instructional level is lower than that indicated at the point in time, the student will need intervention. If the student is one to three levels lower, a Tier 2 intervention is needed. If the student is three+ levels lower, a Tier 3 intervention may be needed.
- At some points in time, students may be transitioning from one level to another (for example, C/D in month 8 of kindergarten). That means the student is reading mostly at the lower level but taking on some texts at the higher level with success. For purposes of analyzing data, consider the lower level C as reading on grade level.
